Tenerife an accessible destination

Anaga Rural Park

- Tenerife welcomes five million tourists per year. The island is famous for its kindness in welcoming visitors and the great year-round spring-like climate, with an average temperature of 22° celsius, as well as the quality of the beaches and hotels. It is also a tourist destination offering safe comfortable holidays for those who have mobility or communication difficulties.
Many beaches, squares and leisure facilities in Tenerife are adapted to welcome these tourists who are then able to share in family activities and enjoy all types of open-air adventures in complete peace-of-mind. There are parks and pedestrian areas for pleasant strolls, the chance to dig into the culture and history of

Enjoy your volcanic experience

48% of Tenerife is protected land. Teide National Park is located on the highest part of the island and can be accessed from the south and north by guagua (bus) or in your own vehicle. Mount Teide has been a dormant volcano for years and crowns the sunrise each morning with its majesty. It measures 3,718 metres and is the third highest volcano in the world. A true giant, declared a World Heritage Site by UNESCO, it is home to different unique species and landscapes as well as being one of the highest peaks in Spain.

The ravines in the Teide National Park offer paths and viewpoints.

Teide National Park
One of the most spectacular spots on the island, its impressive vertical drops are 600 metres high in some places. There are steep gullies further in that can be accessed by boat via the small coves scattered along the coast, such as Carrizales, Juan López, El Natero or Barranco Seco.

The sea bed in this area drops 30 metres deep and the rich marine life attracts many divers and fishermen and women. The waters are also home to a large colony of cetaceans including examples of short-finned pilot whales and bottlenose dolphins. To see them close-up, there are boat trips every day from the ports of Los Gigantes (Santiago del Teide), Puerto Colón (Adeje) and Los Cristianos (Arona).

The Anaga Rural Park is one of the oldest areas of the island. It is located in Anaga Massif and comprises 14,000 hectares of great beauty that spread from the summit, coinciding with the Cruz de Taborno (1,000 metres high), to the coast. The area is home to a jewel of local nature, a magical laurisilva forest whose origins date back to the Tertiary Period. The

Adapted rambling in Joëlette with Montaña para Todos (Mountain for All)

The Joëlette is a wheelchair designed for hill walking on any terrain, even uneven land. It has a single wide wheel, a chair, safety features (brakes, shock absorbers, belt) and two arms to the front and back. The Joëlette needs a passenger and crew comprising several drivers or companions for it to work. Rambling in Joëlette makes for a different type of hill walking and access to nature. A new solidarity method for social participation, a shared activity for people with and without difficulties to head out on trails. Passengers may have a physical disability, reduced mobility or other difficulties who have an interest in nature and mountain activities.

A lively university city, La Laguna is a showcase for pure Canary architectural style. Its unique cobbled streets and colonial style have led to the historic centre being declared a World Heritage Site by Unesco. Its specific design as the first constructed non-walled city was an example for those built later in the New World.

Garachico was the island’s main commercial port in the past but the nascent development of the town was interrupted by the eruption of Trevejo Volcano in 1706 which almost completely entombed the town. After its reconstruction, the historic centre is today one of the most picturesque in Tenerife, leading to it being declared a Site of Cultural Interest. The pretty narrow cobbled streets are home to impressive buildings such as Santa Ana Church, the former convent San Francisco de Asís (with its heartwood cloisters and rows of balconies) and the Franciscan church of Nuestra Señora de Los Ángeles. Further highlights include the home of the Marquis de la Quinta Roja or the residential palace of

Home to over 200,000 inhabitants, Santa Cruz is the island’s capital. It is a great city to walk around and go shopping, discover and savour island cuisine and enjoy the best programme of events. Strolling the streets, enjoying the parks and gardens or stopping off at one of the pleasant terraces are just a few suggestions, as well as attending music, dance and other shows throughout the year. Beaches such as Las Teresitas or a visit to Anaga Rural Park, with Los Sentidos Path as a large adapted showcase for those with some type of disability, round off a day or a few days in this charming city.

The Auditorium of Tenerife is one Santa Cruz’s emblematic buildings. Designed by Santiago Calatrava, the daring modernist architecture makes it one of the most photographed buildings on the island. There are two concert halls, one chamber, one symphonic, with the latter seating 1,600. Highlights from the annual programme include the Tenerife Dance, Atlantic Jazz, World Music, Amongst Friends and Great Performers festivals. It also hosts seasons from the Tenerife Symphony Orchestra, the Tenerife Opera Festival and the Canary Islands Music Festival.
The Museum of Nature and Mankind is located in an emblematic building in the capital and has been declared a Site of Cultural Interest. Discover what the guanches, the island’s ancient inhabitants, were like and how they lived through the largest collection in existence on this culture. There are two separate areas: Natural Sciences and Archaeology. The first houses collections on palaeontology, marine life, botanicals, entomology and land vertebrate animals and is considered to be the best nature library in the Canary Islands. The Archaeology Museum contains the guanche mummy collection and the aboriginal burial world.

“We are removing the physical barriers that hinder mobility”

Being aware of the need to remove physical barriers that make mobility difficult, the Council of Tenerife, the governmental body of the island set up SINPROMI (Island Company for the Promotion of People with Disabilities) in 1993 and since then, has worked to make Tenerife a more accessible place. Highlights from its activities include upgrading ten of the busiest beaches in the south and north of the island. In the north, the beaches of El Socorro (Los Realejos) and Playa Jardín (Puerto de la Cruz) offer accessible services such as showers and bathrooms and have access ramps and walkways linking the different facilities on the coast. The eight remaining accessible beaches are in the south, in the municipalities of Granadilla, Arona, Adeje and Santiago del Teide. Arona stands out for Las Vistas beach, with all facilities necessary for those with mobility issues, including a bathing support service with crutches and water chairs available, as well as specific rest areas.
Playa de Troya

There are nearby restaurants, a taxi rank and guagua bus stop. It has been awarded the Blue Flag. Car parks, ramps, accessible toilets and showers, water chair and crutches.

Playa El Duque
Fine grey sand  South of the Island. Adeje
Located in one of the newest areas on Costa Adeje and next to the emblematic Gran Hotel Bahía del Duque, it has a sun lounger and beach umbrella service. Restaurants and taxi rank. It has been awarded the Blue Flag. Car parks, ramps and Walkways, accessible toilets and showers.
Playa de Las Vistas
Fine golden sand  South of the Island. Arona
This is one of the best beaches in Spain. Thanks to its facilities and seven kilometres of fully accessible promenade, the biggest in Europe, it offers accessible bathing throughout the year. This is why it has received different quality awards. It has been awarded the Blue Flag. Car parks, ramps and Walkways, accessible toilets and showers, rest area, water chairs and crutches, support staff for bathing year-round.

Playa de Los Cristianos
Fine golden sand  South of the Island. Arona
A historic beach in the Arona area located right in the heart of Los Cristianos, a unique pioneering spot that welcomed the first tourists to the south of the island in the 1960s. Sun lounger and beach umbrella service. Car parks, ramps and Walkways, accessible toilets and showers.
Playa de El Médano

Fine grey sand  South of the Island. Granadilla de Abona

Located in the old port of Granadilla, it covers two kilometres with shallow waters. This fine grey sandy beach is frequently blown by the wind, making it a popular windsurfing area. It has sun loungers and beach umbrellas for hire. It has been awarded the Blue Flag. Car parks, ramps, accessible showers, water chairs and crutches, support staff for bathing (summer only).

Playa de San Juan

Medium black sand  South of the Island. Guía de Isora

Located in the quiet fishing village, it has recently been remodelled. There are lifeguards, sun loungers and beach umbrellas, alongside a few cafés. It has been awarded the Blue Flag. Car parks, ramps and Walkways, accessible toilets and showers, eater Chair, support staff for bathing year-round.
Playa de El Socorro
Medium black sand North of the Island. Los Realejos
El Socorro is an extremely beautiful long beach of volcanic black sand with a car park and nearby guagua bus stop. It has been awarded the Blue Flag. Car parks, ramps, accessible toilet.

Playa de Las Teresitas
Fine golden sand Santa Cruz de Tenerife
Located seven kilometres from the city centre, it is around one and a half kilometres long. It is protected from currents and waves by a breakwater making it ideal for children. It has sun loungers and beach umbrellas for hire as well as a nearby guagua bus stop. Car parks, eamps and Walkways accessible toilets and showers, water chair and crutches, support staff for bathing (summer only).
Playa Jardín
Medium black sand North of the Island. Puerto de la Cruz
Designated by the Canarian artist César Manrique, it comprises three beaches: the first, next to San Felipe castle, is 250 metres long. The second is 100 metres long and the third, 300, making a total of around 650 metres. There are sun loungers and beach umbrellas for hire, as well as restaurants. It has been awarded the Blue Flag. Car parks, ramps and Walkways, accessible toilets and showers.

Playa de La Arena
Medium black sand South of the Island. Santiago del Teide
The beach is located in the coastal town of Puerto Santiago. It has sun loungers and beach umbrellas for hire, walkways, toilets and showers, as well as a car park and nearby guagua bus stop. It has been awarded the Blue Flag. Car parks, ramps and Walkways, accessible toilets and showers, water chair and crutches, support staff for bathing (summer only).
The island’s sea beds are also a great attraction with the crystal-clear waters ideal for diving. Tenerife offers unbeatable conditions for divers such as swimming with dense shoals of brilliant-coloured fish or diving alongside giant rays. In popular diving areas such as Los Cristianos, the abundant fauna (ornate wrasse, combers or redhead cichlid) means they can be seen up-close without any problems.

The CIDEMAT (Island Centre for Water Sports of Tenerife) also offers different possibilities for water sport lovers such as adapted sailing courses, kayaking and diving.

Loro Parque

Loro Parque is one of the best-kept, most prestigious and busiest zoos in the world. It was opened in 1972 by German Wolfgang Kiessling and has become a reference on the island since that time. It covers 135,000 square metres and delights big and little ones alike. It is home to the largest selection of parrots in the world and has included new shows every year, attracting millions of visitors. These include Orca Ocean, the dolphin show, as well as Planet Penguin (the largest penguin enclosure in the world with 170 penguins from the South Pole in a space that recreates their natural habitat). Further examples of the many attractions include an aquarium with over 3,000 species, an impressive 18-metre shark tunnel, the Pueblo Thai and Katandra Treetops, one of the largest free-flight aviaries in the world (a small jungle with over 200 birds from 25 species and sub-species from Australia and Asia).
